

Steve Ibbotson

Director

Background: Steve Ibbotson is a Director of 3Pillars Asia Pacific and has over 23 years consulting experience. Steve was previously a senior consultant in the Management Services Agency (MSA) RAAF Base Edinburgh (now AFI) from 1994-2001. Steve retired for the RAAF in 2001 and took up a position as an internal process improvement consultant involved in the initial development and deployment of a Process Improvement capability (Lean Six Sigma) within BT Financial Group (Westpac).

He is the past WA President and a National Director of the Australian Institute of Management Consultants. In all of these roles he has maintained a high standard of professional and ethical consulting.

Steve has considerable experience in successfully applying strategic planning, business process improvement and process management methodologies in both the public and private sectors in Australia, New Zealand and Asia. Steve is a skilled facilitator who works effectively with all levels of management to achieve results.

Steve specialises in Lean Six Sigma process improvement methodology and process management. His focus when implementing Lean Six Sigma is to impart knowledge to others whilst guiding them through the various stages of an implementation to ensure success.

Steve has been heavily involved in the Defence Strategic Reform Program (SRP) and the Cost-Conscious Continuous Improvement Program (CCCIP) since 2008 and continues to work across Navy, Army and Air Force in strategic reform activities.
